

Technical, epidemiological and financial implications of large-scale national vaccination campaigns to control HPAI H5N1

Hinrichs et al. have reviewed the literature on large scale national vaccination campaigns for H5N1 in poultry. They conclude that in view of the high costs, such campaigns should be carefully targeted and combined with other disease control measures.

View an abstract at:

<http://www.cabi.org/cabreviews/default.aspx?LoadModule=Review&ReviewID=134458&site=167&page=1178>